Program Descriptions

Welcome and Woodstock's Place in India: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow – Bruce Davis '73, FWS President; and Ashoke Chatterjee '51, Distinguished Alumni, WOSA/ASIA Member, and WOSA/INDIA Council Member

Since Woodstock School's founding in 1854, the question of whether there is a need for such a school to exist in the foothills of the Indian Himalayas has arisen. There is no question that many students and staff feel that Woodstock is a unique and important school. However, this school of less than 500 students is now one of dozens of international schools in India. How has Woodstock fit into the secondary education landscape in the past? How has its relevance changed over time? And what might its role be in the future?

Tech: Bruce Davis '73

The Brown and The Gold: Woodstock's Sporting Life

Hosts: Jamie Alter '99 and Suheil Tandon '06

For so many of us, sports were an important part of our Woodstock experience and beyond. Cross-country on Tehri Road, playing cricket and football on Hanson Field, basketball in the Gym, Sports Day, the Olympics, and so much more... We will explore how Woodstock's sports program has changed over time and then talk with some alumni who are working in the sports field. They will share what they are currently doing and how being at Woodstock shaped their journey. We will also look into the future - What might sport at Woodstock look like moving forward?

Techs: Aditya Manral and Katie Jo Walter

Sound of the Mountains: A Live Concert

Music, like the mountains, is timeless. And music, like the mountains, is an integral part of the Woodstock experience. Some of the school's most talented musicians have come together to put on a live concert for their fellow Woodstockers. They will also share stories of the inspiration behind their music, as well as the role that Woodstock played in their musical journey.

Moderator: Priyanka Das '13

Confirmed: Aditya Manral, staff, Rohan Kumar '14, Nisa Shetty '10 and band, three to four musicians

Tech and Co-Host: Aditya Manral

(Program Descriptions continue on the Next Page)

Artists on the Hillside! - Presentation & Discussion on Woodstock's first-ever Alumni Artist Residency

Alumni Artists in Residence Program May 2022

Participants in the May 2022 Artists in Residency at Woodstock School will reflect on their recent residency at Woodstock and their experiences of returning to the school. This will be followed by a lobby for artists, facilitated by Madison Moore '12.

Panelists: Stefan Eicher '90, Isaac Gergan '06, Chris Green '90, Tanya Garg '12 and others

Techs and Co-Hosts: Aditya Manral and Stefan Eicher '90

Tiger Pranks and HiJinx Followed by an open lobby discussion.

Some of our favorite Woodstock memories are the pranks we played on each other, our teachers, and staff.

Join a panel of fellow Woodstock alums as they recount the pranks they and their classmates pulled during their time as Woodstock Tigers! (Names will be changed or omitted to protect the guilty!). There will be time during the session for you to share pranks you pulled, heard of, or knew about.

Moderator: Sue Crain Lewis '82

Panelists: Don Emmerson '57, Bob Cummings '85, James Hackney '79, Ashok Mayadas '57, Sharon Seto '79, David Stein '60, Alan Robinson '60, "write in" memories from Marian Demcisak '57, and others!

Tech and Co-Host: Kim Gingerich Brenneman '79

Woodstock's Inspiring Location: Learning from our Environment

How did Woodstock's Himalayan location and natural environment impact students? The school's emphasis on natural history has helped shape the careers and priorities of many alumni in many ways, through the mentorship of teachers like the Flemings and Dick Wechter to the chance to study and observe the rich mountain ecology, wildlife, and impact of humans on the environment.

Panel: Darab Nagarwalla '80, Steve Alter '74, Suzanne Hanifi '63

Tech: Sharon Seto '79

Woodstock: Today and Tomorrow

Our Future, Our Woodstock

Moderators: Bruce Davis '73, Glenn Conrad '68

Guest Speakers: Dr. Craig Cook, Woodstock Principal and Jonake Bose '81

Dorm Life: Forged in the Foothills

From Ridgewood to Hostel and Alteridge to Midlands, Woodstock's dorms have been home to generations of Woodstockers. Lifelong friendships are forged here, and for many, dorms are where extended families are found. No matter where we go, students and dorm parents alike carry fond memories of adventures shared among friends.

Moderator: Rohan Kumar '14

Panelists: Anil McMullen '93, Duc Ngo '14, Ishaan Pathak '14, Sohila Samuel '14

Tech: Priyanka Das '13

(Program Descriptions continue on the Next Page)

Writing Workshop: Sparking Memory to write our Story

During this hour we will build on the many memories of the Woodstock community (past, present and future) generated over this weekend. Together we will jot down 3-4 places, common objects, and cultural values. Then, in 5 minutes we will write individually a SHORT memory of the Woodstock community (past, present or future) adding to these, emotions and senses (2-3 sentences). Do NOT include names of people in your writing. Those who wish to will share their SHORT story (10-12 stories). Together it will form a collective story. If time permits we will edit it together, or just keep sharing. (Amateurs welcome!)

Moderator: Mary Girard '76

Tech and Co-Host: Kim Gingerich Brenneman '79

Videos

30 minutes - Woodstock Tigers - Mussoorie, Arriving at WS gate, DroneVideo

1 hour - Video past and present of WS
